Applying our Knowledge to Your Business

Companies face increasing pressure to provide higher quality products and a higher standard of service at a lower cost.

To meet these demands companies need to focus on tighter control over the handling of raw materials and the flow of finished goods, maximizing throughput in their operations whilst retaining the ability to trace batches or lots across the enterprise and the extended supply chain.

Partnering with Microsoft

K3 AX is a Dynamics AX Gold Certified Partner. Together we offer a total business solution that not only manages core financial business data but also extends out across the organisation to include the management of raw materials, production, warehouse management, despatch and much, much more. Our experience, combined with the power of Dynamics AX, provides a new generation ERP solution. To meet these demands companies need to focus on tighter control over the handling of raw materials and the flow of finished goods, maximizing throughput in their operations whilst retaining the ability to trace batches or lots across the enterprise and the extended supply chain.

A Total Solution

At K3 AX we take pride in ensuring we understand your business and the challenges it faces both now and into the future. Our team of highly skilled consultants and software developers bring a wealth of application and business knowledge to K3 AX's solutions.

We offer a total solution including pre sales consultancy, project management, application development, implementation, training and post sales support. This not only covers the software but also extends to the vast range of leading hardware that we can offer including weighbridges, scales, metering, batch / wireless radio frequency data collection devices, RFID and much more.

Hear What Our Customers Have to Say About Us

"We chose K3 AX as the solution-provider, implementation partner and support provider on the basis of their significant experience and success in providing systems to the process manufacturing sector together with their proven ability to give first-class project management, implementation and ongoing support services. We also formed a strong professional and business relationship through the evaluation procedure, adding to our confidence in the K3 AX / Dynamics AX solution"

Brian Sutton, Director of IS, Jeyes Group

"We chose Dynamics AX, supplied by K3 AX, because of the system's rich functionality and because of the ease and scope for further development, much of which can be done in-house due to the terrific development tools that come as part of the system. The system is also very competitively priced and pound for pound, we believe we have a terrific value proposition for the business, which in turn will deliver rapid return on investment. We also appreciated the vision and support that Microsoft will give the product over the coming years. The system is not just future-proofed – we believe it is future 'enabled'. It will only get better."
